TIFFANY B'

Hi, I'm Tiffany Bailey, a Style, Interiors & Travel Blogger. 'Eclectic' is my thing - mixing old with new, the latest trends with a bit of an edge.

Styling & photography are my favourite parts of blogging - capturing designs, products and moments of life that inspire and appeal to people with a creative spirit.

I have a background in Marketing, so I understand what businesses need when they collaborate with Bloggers and I love being able to work with and support independent brands and artists.

BOHO & BLUSH

My Blog has a modern style which has an eclectic mix of content that is colourful and inspiring, appealing to people who love style, design and adventure.

My writing is professional yet friendly and authentic. I often feature interviews with business owners and with a love of photography, pride myself on only posting high quality, eye-catching images that represent both featured products and my own brand correctly.

Boho & Blush has a clear visual identity that appeals to its female biased audience with a colour palette of slate grey and turquoise highlights plus peach and white accents.
